The History of Dr. Schenck's own Case, & how he was cured of Consumption. how he was cured of Consumption.

Many years ago, whilst residing in Philadelphia, I had progressed gradually into the last stages of Pulmonary Consumption. All hopes of my recovery being dissipated, I was advised by my physician, Dr. Parrish, to remove into the country. Mourstown, New Jersey, being my native place, I was removed thither. My futher and all his hardly had lived and died of Pulmonary Consumption. On my arrival I was put to bed, where I hay for many weeks in what was decended a hopeless condition. Dr. Thornton, who had been my father's family physician, and had attended him in his last illness, was called to see me. He thought my case entirely beyond the reach of medicine, and decided that I must die, and gave me one week to arrange my temporal affairs. In this apparently hopeless condition, I heard of the remedies which I now make and sell. It seemed to me that I could feel them working their way, and penetrating every nerve, fibre, and tissue of my system.

My lungs and liver put on a new action, and Consumption at that time was thought to be an incurable disease, by every one, pityscians as well as those who were unlearned in medicine—especially such eases as were reduced to the condition I was in. This induced many people to believe my recovery only temporary, and they demand increased so rapidly that I determined to offer them to the public, and devote my undivided attention to lung diseases. In truth, I was next to forced to it, for people would send for me far and near, to require the best bargains, and they condition.

For several years past I have made as many as five hundred examinations weekly with the "Respirometer." For such examination my charge is three dollars, and it enables me to give each patient the true condition of his disease, and tell him frankly whether he will get well. The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, that they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop the night sweats, heetic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive system, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient dies.

The Pulmonic Syrup is one of the most valuable medicines known. It is nutrient, powerfully tonic, and healing in itself. It contains no opium, yet loosens the phlegm in the bronchial tubes, and nature throws it off with little exertion. One bottle frequently cures an ordinary cold; but it will be well first to take a dose of Schenck's Mandrake's Pills to cleanse the stomach. The Pulmonic Syrup is readily digested and absorbed into blood, to which it imparts its healing properties. It is one of the best preparations of iron in use; it is a powerful tonic of itself; and when the Scaweel Tonic discolves the mucus in the stomach, and is carried off by the aid of the Mandrake Pills, a healthy flow of gastrie juice, good appetite, and a good digestion follow.

The Seaweed Tonic is a stimulant, and none other is required when it is used. It is pure & pleasant; no had effects like when using Bourbon whisky, which disorders the stomach, torpors the liver, locks up all the secretions, turns the blood into water, dropsy sets in, and the patient dies suddenly.

Bourbon whisky is recommended now-a-days by almost every physician. Many patients that visit my rooms, both male and female, are stupified with this poison. The relief is temporary if they cough they take a little whisky; if they feel weak and feeble they take a little whisky, if they cannot sleep, they take a little whisky, and they go on in this way, requiring moreand more until they are bloated up, and imagine they are getting fieshy. The stomach, liver and digestive powers are completely destroyed, and lose their appetite for food. No one was ever eured of consumption by this process, where earlied her appetite for food. No one was ever early its have been formed in the lungs. A little stimulant is frequently beneficial to consumptives, such as pure brandy or good wine; in many cases London porter or brown stout in moderate quantities; but flourbon whisky hastens on instead of curing consumption.

The Seaweed Tonic produces lasting results, thoroughly invigorating consumption.
